Equine Studies Minor: 18 credits

This minor is intended for students from various backgrounds who wish to adapt their education to horses. Prior to enrolling in the minor, students must consult with the student academic services coordinator in the School of Food and Agriculture to select courses most appropriate to their background and career goals, and to discuss any course substitutions that may be appropriate.

Required courses

- AVS 203 Equine Management, 3 credits
- AVS 303 Equine Management Cooperative, 2 credits
- AVS 353 Equine Reproduction and Breeding Management, 3 credits

Plus at least 10 credits from the following lists, but no more than one course from Group B.

Group A — Equine courses

AVS 253 can count twice in the equine studies minor, but only count once in the animal and veterinary sciences major.
